

Thank You

Heifer International helps develop strong communities by laying a foundation for successes for struggling families in need. All it takes is one hand and one heart to start a chain of giving, and your gift to Heifer supports new projects all over the world. Thank you for making the end to hunger and poverty possible.

can provide a trio of rabbits, which will give a family a low-cost, high-yield gift that helps rapidly increase income and nutrition can provide a goat to a family, which can give as much as four quarts of milk a day. Even better, they often give birth to twins or triplets, multiplying the benefit.

$120

$500

can provide a heifer to a hungry family, which can produce up to four gallons of milk a day and a calf every year.

$1,000

can provide a Milk Menagerie of a heifer, two goats and a water buffalo. Such a gift can change the lives of an entire community.

Where does my gift go?

To help the greatest number of families move toward self-reliance, Heifer does not use its limited resources to track individual animals from donation to distribution to specific families. Instead, your gift supports the entire Heifer Mission. We use your gift where it can do the most good by combining it with the gifts of others to help transform entire communities. Heifer's unique community development model assisted more than 150,000 families last year with gifts of animals, training and Passing on the Gift. In addition, members of more than 250,000 families received special training in sustainable farming techniques. And, because you are helping Heifer fight hunger and poverty, your gift is tax deductible.

To continue your support, please complete and return the enclosed coupon attached to the bottom of your receipt form.

Sheep for School

Mahyuti, who received sheep from Heifer, participates in training classes.

Sumatra, INDONESIA — Before joining a Heifer sheep project, Mrs. Mahyuti (above) put concern for her children's education above her own problems.

Mahyuti works as a day laborer at a nearby farm during harvest seasons.

Usually, she makes $1.60 a day, but when the harvests end, so does her income.

Though the family does have about $3 daily from Mahyuti's husband who works in a bamboo factory, it was a struggle to pay for the tuition fees, uniforms and book costs along with food that gave the children proper nutrition.

But in June 2006, Mahyuti joined a Heifer project. She attended various trainings provided by Heifer and its project partner, Bothar, which included animal management, sustainable agriculture and group management. Two months later, she received four sheep from Heifer partner Bothar.

Within two years, Mahyuti increased her herd to 23 sheep. She was able to pass on four sheep, sell 10 and leave the family nine sheep. The money she made from selling the sheep was more than she and her husband could have made in months of working.

Most of their profit went to the children's education. But there was also money for home renovations. Where there was once a woven palm-leaf room, a new metal roof protects the family from wind and rain.

Mahyuti says that she feels more confident and empowered, and says she sees a brighter future for her children.

"It's enough for me to have only elementary education schooling. I want to see my children to have a far higher education than me" Mahyuti said. "One of the main bridges for our children to have a brighter future is our sheep. We'll be always working hard for that."
